The next day brings a somber sky, grey and overcast, but to me, beautiful.

How could the world not be beautiful when my soul feels so free?

I want to hug the melancholy clouds.

I think I could fly up there if I tried.

The weight on my shoulders is gone...

Jemmah is my friend, and everything is beautiful.

Good mornings, lovelies!
Hi, Amy.
Do you guys

lunch outside today?
Maybe a picnic?
In this weather?
Are you kidding?
It might be nice to eat off campus for a change...
We could go to a restaurant. Get something other than cafeteria food.
Ooh!
What's it called?
What if we went to that one diner on Maple Street-- Franky's?

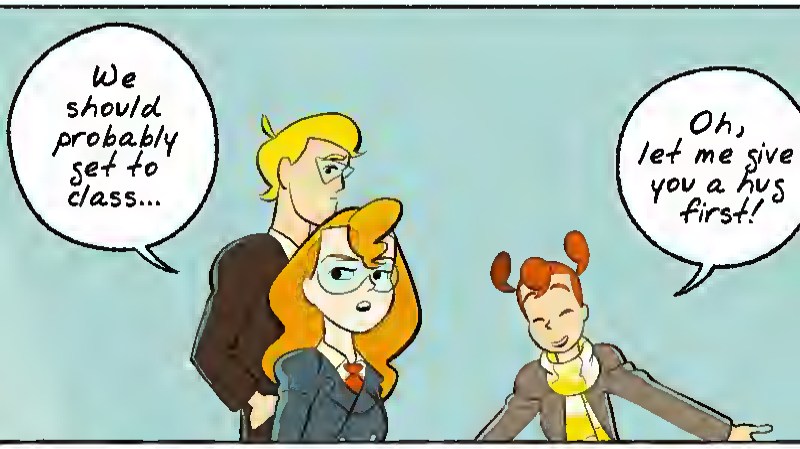
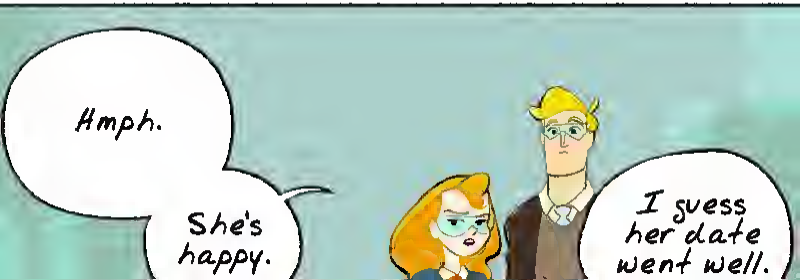
Freddy's?
Oh, yeah.
They have pretty good pies there.
A pie party!
Spread the word.
It's settled then!



We should probably get to class...
Oh, let me give you a hug first!

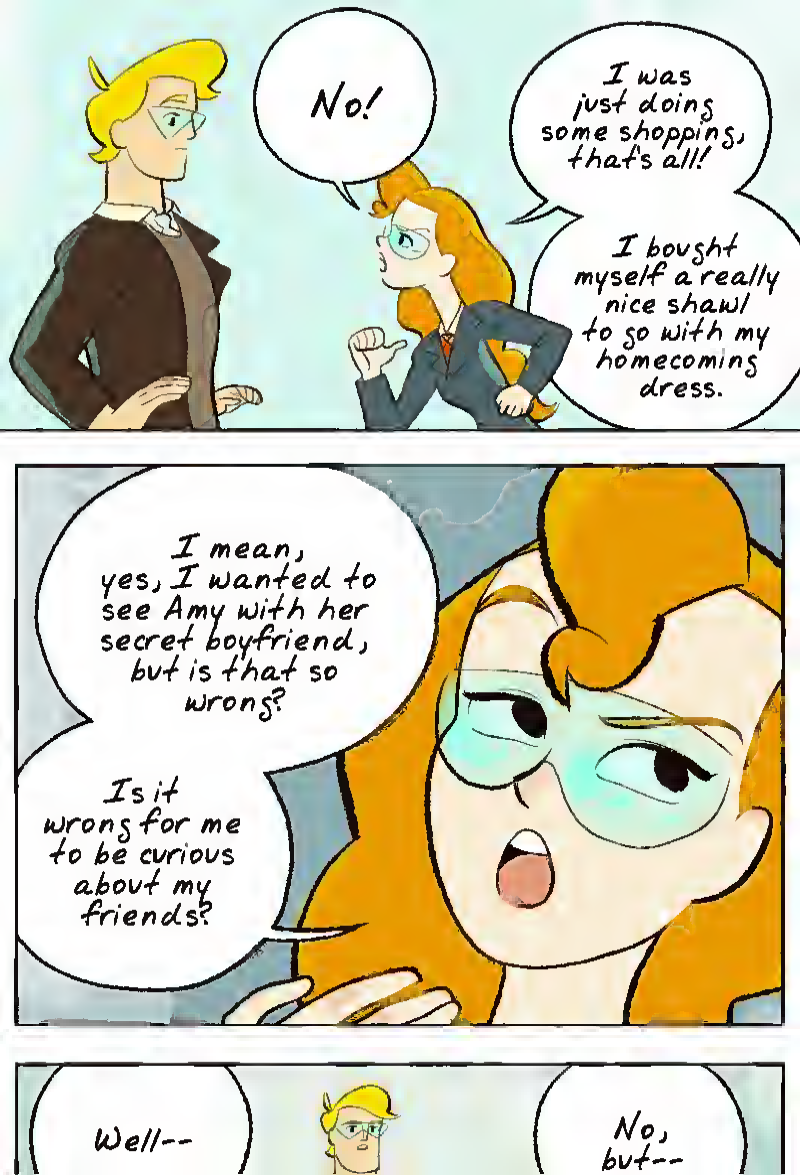
You're so beautiful, Cassie.
You too, David.
Um...
Thanks?

Later guys!

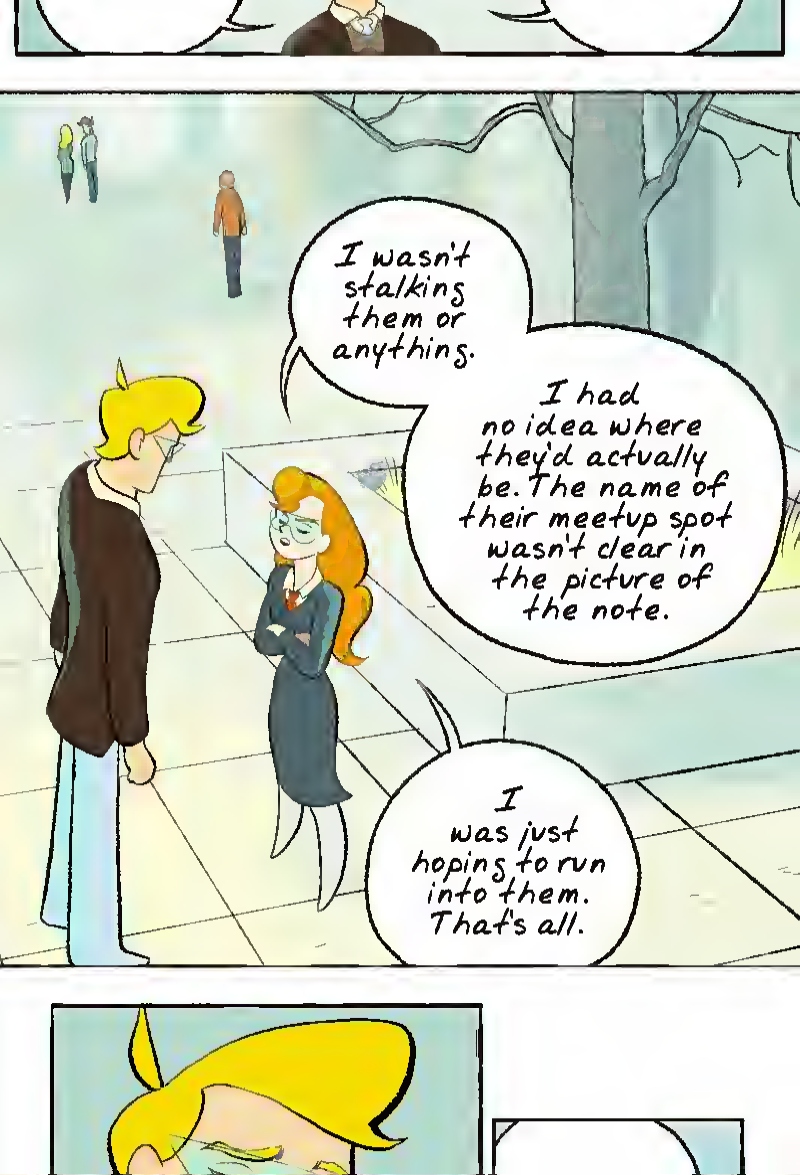


Hmph.
She's happy.
I guess her date went well.

Cassie...
We don't know it was a date.
Trust me.
I can tell just by looking at her.
What I want to know is who this Oliver person is.
I went to all the shops on Washington Avenue yesterday hoping I'd see Amy with him, but--
You tried to spy on Amy?



No!
I was just doing some shopping, that's all!
I bought myself a really nice shawl to go with my homecoming dress.
I mean, yes, I wanted to see Amy with her secret boyfriend, but is that so wrong?
Is it wrong for me to be curious about my friends?
Well--
No, but--



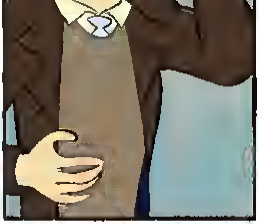
I wasn't stalking them or anything.
I had no idea where they'd actually be. The name of their meetup spot wasn't clear in the picture of the note.
I was just hoping to run into them. That's all.

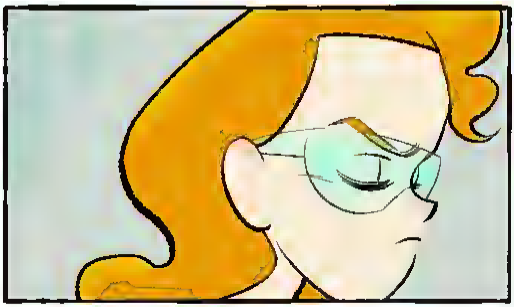
What?
I--
I just don't feel right about this.
If Amy is going out with this guy, we should give her a chance to tell us. You know, when she's ready.

Sneaking around and asking questions will only start rumors...
David.
I am NOT a sneak.
That's not--
--and I don't start rumors.

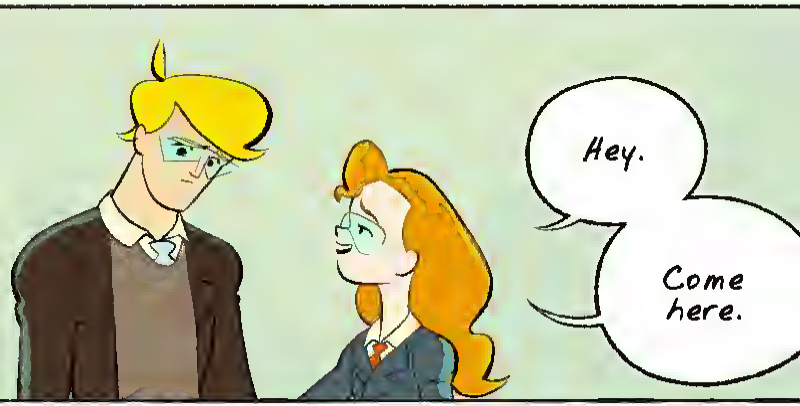
No--
That's not what I'm saying!
Then what are you saying?

I--
I don't know.
I just--





I'm sorry, Cassie.
Don't be mad.



Hey.
Come here.

Listen, if it makes you feel better I'll delete the picture of Amy's note and that will be the end of it.
Okay?
Alright...

I love you.
I love you too...
